Liberty To Show "His Land"

Across a barren land, scarred by centuries of war and neglect, the spectres of ancient Israel appear, hover, and fade away. Suddenly there is movement of a different sort, and slowly, steadily, a startling transformation begins to take place.

Thus begins "HIS LAND," the thrilling story of Israel from ancient to modern times. "HIS LAND," a one-hour color feature motion picture, takes you on a journey through space, time and current events. You see graphically, the fact that Israel today is a living testimony to the words of the prophets when they proclaimed that Israel would take her place among the nations of the world.

In the company of Cliff Barrows and Cliff Richard, England's popular singer, who sings a number of new Ralph Carmichael songs, some of which were actually written on location, you travel the vibrant streets and lonely solitary paths of this nation whose destiny is daily discussed in the counsels of governments all over the world . . . the same paths taken by Jesus and the prophets; Galilee . . . the wilderness . . . Jerusalem . . . the Mount of Olives . . . mingle with the people of modern Israel as they work, play and build a nation.

Words of Scripture come to life as the two men reflect upon the events that in recent years have confirmed much of theancient prophecies. You are witness to the fact that out of death and desolation is emerging a new Land . . . a "Land of milk and honey," where the future climactic events of history will take place.

"HIS LAND," rich in color and authentic sights and sounds, with a popular musical score composed and arranged by Ralph Carmichael has been called a musical journey into the soul of a nation, and will be shown on June 14 at 7:30 p.m. at Liberty Baptist Church.

"HIS LAND," truly a feast of color, sound and song. An unforgettable experience!

Why Our Nation Is Divided

Text: verse 21 "They forgat (forgot) God their Saviour, which had done great things in Egypt." Psalms 106:21,24,41

I am completely convinced that the present chasm between the generations has been brought almost entirely by a change in the concept of truth. No matter where you look this new concept prevails. Whether you read the newspapers and magazines or review the arts and literature, you are aware that the change is monolithic.

Until 1935 this nation's method of arriving at truth was one of Christian antithesis. If you have thesis you have antithesis, which gives us the exact meaning of our thesis. For example, if a thing is truth the antithesis (the direct opposite) is false. In morality if one thing is right, its opposite is wrong. It is impossible to discuss morality without the absolutes of right and wrong. Until a few years ago you could say to a young person, "Be good," and they would understand; but not today, thanks to the new method of arriving at truth.

The German philosopher Hegel introduced a new method of conveying truth. Mr. Hegel suggested we no longer think in terms of cause and effect. What we really have is a thesis, and its opposit is antithesis, and the answer to their relationship is not in the horizontal movement of cause and effect (right and wrong), but the answer is always synthesis. What Hegel produced was the acceptance of the partial truths of the thesis (right) and its antithesis (wrong) into a higher stage of truth. The two opposites, right and wrong, are resolved into an acceptable synthesis by parties involved. Sinfulness necessarily destroys absolutes.

Synthesis frees man from all laws, sets his mind free in a mental wilderness without guidelines or absolutes. He determines right and wrong, not permitting past, present, or future to speak. Thus man does that which is right in his own eyes. (Judges 21:25b)

Synthesis is just another effort of humans to remove themselves from God's economy. He is like the (?) that isn't a man, so he grows long hair and pretends to be a woman in long britches.

God destroyed one nation for this sin, and He will destroy ours unless we turn back and acknowledge Him.

Christian antithesis must be maintained if our nations survives. You as a Christian can assure America's perpetuity. Put God back in our churches, schools, homes, and lives!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

DIMENSIONS OF WORSHIP

Background Scripture: ' Corinthians 11; 14

Devotional Reading: John 4:19-26

"How many worshipped yesterday morning, Reverend?" asked my mailman one Monday morning.

"Oh," I replied, "eight or ten."

"Eight or ten!" gasped the mailman. Then: "Aw, you're putting me on!" I shook my head. His incredulous tone returned: "You mean you only had eight or ten people in the church?"

"Oh," I said with mock seriousness, "you didn't ask me how many were in church, you asked me how many worshipped. There is a difference, you know."

What Is Worship?

Of course I was "putting him on." I had known from the beginning what he meant. Yet, in the midst of this levity there was some sober truth: there is a difference between attending church and worshipping. It is the same kind of difference that exists between "leading a horse to water" and getting him "to drink."

The key, of course, is what we mean by worship. For many people worship is simply a religious "program" or a ceremony. It it entertains us – primarily through the sermon or the choir – we judge the experience favorably. Our standard of measure is what we "get out of it" or how it makes us feel.

In saying this, however, we demonstrate clearly that we have not understood what worship is intended to be. Although we do "get something out of" worship, our primary reason for worship is related not so much to what we expect to get as to what we expect to give. We are not at the center of the worship experience; God is.

When You Meet Together . . .

The Apostle Paul tried to get this across to the church at Corinth. Apparently this congregation had come to look upon their worship in self-centered terms. "For in eating (the Lord's Supper), each one goes ahead with his own meal, and one is hungry and another is drunk" (I Corinthians 11:21). They were concerned with what they could get out of this experience.

So Paul had to remind them of the grounds upon which their worship was founded: "For I received from the Lord what I also delivered to you . . ." (11:23). Yet, Jesus had not given them an order or program of worship. He had devised no rituals or liturgies. What he had given to his disciples was an understanding of the dimensions of the worship experience.

First of all, he had shown them the dimension of remembrance. "Do this in remembrance of me" (11:25). Worship was to be a time of remembering, of looking back upon the past. This was not a radically new concept for the worship of the Jews was based largely upon the remembrance of the mighty acts which God had performed in the past. From this remembrance should spring gratitude, thanksgiving, humility, and even repentance.

"This Do Is . . ."

Secondly, there is the dimension of the present: "This is my body which is for you. Do this . . ." Worship was not only a remembrance of what God had done in the past, but also a recognition of what he is doing right now in our midst. When we worship we acknowledge his presence in our midst and affirm that we can reach out and draw strength and help from that presence.

Finally, there is the dimension of the future: "For . . . you proclaim the Lord's death until He comes" (11:26). We commit ourselves to the future with him, confident of what he will do with us in the days that lie ahead. Once again, however, he, not we, is at the center of this dimension of worship.

It is these three dimensions that make the difference between going to church and worshipping.

Mental Health Aide To Study for Ministry

William A. Kolb has resigned as executive director of The Community Mental Health Services Board of Central Virginia to study for the Episcopal ministry.

Kolb, who was named to the mental health post in November 1968, submitted his resignation to Joseph E. Peckham, chairman of the Mental Health Services Board on Monday. He said it will become effective on or before Aug. 31 and that a definite date will be submitted as soon as possible.

Kolb pointed out in a letter to Peckham that when he was first hired he indicated that for several years he had hopes of entering the ordained ministry, "but have not been sure that I could or that I wanted to take that step."

He said, "In the past year many obstacles have been overcome and in the past six weeks I have been accepted as a Postulant by my Bishop (the Rt. Rev. William H. Marmion), and accepted by Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria for the incoming Fall class. For this reason I must leave."

Kolb, of 612 Midvale St., is a graduate of the University of Florida and entered the insurance business in 1961 as an agent for the Prudential Insurance Co. of America.

He was appointed agency staff assistant for First Colony Life Insurance Co.'s home office in Lynchburg in May, 1966 and served in this capacity until his appointment to the mental health board.

Peckham said that Kolb has been engaged in an 18-month study relative to the inauguration of a Mental Health Program on a regional basis to serve the Central Virginia Mental Health Services member government bodies. These include the cities of Lynchburg and Bedford, and the counties of Amherst, Appomattox, Bedford and Campbell.

The board chairman said that the study results are being reviewed by the governing bodies with the hope "that funds will be appropriated for a program of services in Mental Health to be provided the citizens of these areas.

"Our board of directors and I regret very much having to accept Mr. Kolb's resignation," Peckham said.
